

Redbrow Garden Guesthouse

SINCE 2004

From a bare and windy 25 acre sheep paddock in 1998 to a colourful and productive 10-hectare garden and tranquil B&B in 2004.

Garden wedding ceremonies, meetings, workshops and seminars have always been an integral part of Redbrow Garden since we opened in 2004.

The lakeside garden has been the venue for an increased number of functions and wedding ceremonies and has provided a spectacular display for each of those special occasions.

Summer heralds a leafy green oasis, the lake offering a cooling effect;
Autumn arrives with meant stunning colours from the Manchurian Pears, Liquid Ambers, Canadian Maples etc.;
Spring rewards with a profusion of daffodils, a magnificent Banksia rose and irises.

A full-page photograph of a wedding scene. In the foreground, a man in a black tuxedo with a pink bow tie and a woman in a long green lace dress stand on a small wooden dock over a pond. They are holding champagne glasses and about to kiss. A drone is visible in the sky above them. The background is a lush garden with many trees and a body of water reflecting the scene.

“We didn’t want the classic wedding, instead we wanted to hold a party for our friends and family outdoors in a beautiful garden setting somewhere where people could relax and enjoy the whole day together and then party on into the night at. ”
